Description
There should be a multi-edit form mode. When activated, one can edit multiple fields at once and the edited fields would apply to all selected or filtered elements. To warn users that they are in multi-edit mode, the widget background could be displayed in red. This should avoid accidental multi-edits. An apply-button would commit the values to all selected or filtered features. The use can decide whether it applies to filter or selection.
