Description

When using the 'Layer Order' dialog and with the 'Control rendering order' check box checked, any new layers get inserted at the bottom of the layer stack. This seems a bit counter-intuitive as generally if you are adding a layer you want to see it straight away, right? So maybe the request is to set that new layers go to the top automatically with 'Control rendering order'set, or have an option somewhere specifying where to put new layers by default.
