Description
Testing viewing Oracle tables here in current master 6cd8b4c83e After making a succesfull connection you get presented a (tree) table of all layers. Some strange things happening here: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- if your table does not have a primary key (that is the column Primary key column is empty), you can double click in the cell (of that table): you are then presented with a Query Builder window, BUT adding a Field name then does not work. Looks like there should not be a Query Builder there?- if you click one row (select a table), then the Add button will be enabled. BUT if you select click another row, it is ADDED to the selection (so you have to rows selected) I think that is strange, normally you select another row, and maybe can add rows to the selection by using the shift button or so? <ul style="list-style-type: none">- if you have 2 rows selected, and Deselect one row, then the 'Add' button is disabled and cannot be used anymore... selecting a second row again enables the button... Looks like the enabling/disabling is not in sync with what you see?

History

- File oraclemsg2.png added

Attached a screenie where I just disabled a second row, seeing a DISabled add button

Not this one is in 2.18.3, so it is not a regression.
