Ok, but i don't understand why it's in QGIS 2.18.14 desktop in the osgeo4w packages.

It should not be there.

oh ok, you mean the ppoint cluster functions are 3.0 but point cluster symbology is  $\geq 2.18$ . Sorry.

So in the 2.18, you can only display circles but no count. So, it's not very useful because users will not understand what are these circles. Anyway, I'll find another way like a svg icon.

Thanks for answering
