Description

When you first open the 3D Map View, you get a white empty dialog with the a white hand (the time the rendering is processed).
Here the process time is (can be) quite long and user does not have any mean to know that something is being done.
Could a message be displayed somewhere (in the view, status bar, like a message bar...)?

[3d] Show feedback when loading tiles for 3D view (fixes #17565)

There was no indication whether something is going on behind the scenes, leaving user to wonder whether there is something to wait for or the scene is already loaded in full detail.
