Description

I import lots of vector layers.

With the new Data source Manager a huge amount of mouse clicks are now needed: select file, Add, select sources, Close

With Qgis There was no need to click on Add, from file selection it went straight to sources.

Possible to bring back the import of different layers how it was, and keep the DSM for when its needed?

This is a "won't fix". If you need to import many layers try the browser panel or dragging and dropping from a file explorer.
