If I understand correctly, the problem is that you can load the layer in QGIS, but nothing is displayed in canvas, however attribute table shows values fine.

Unfortunately your INSERT command takes features from some other table so it is not possible to replicate your exact situation.

I would suggest checking:

- does the layer have correctly recognized CRS when loaded?
- what extent rectangle is reported for the layer? (look into layer properties)
- does the layer have an entry in geometry_columns table?
- if you check [geom].STIsValid() in SQL query - does it return 1 for all rows?

- File QGIS Bug 20414.docx added

The INSERT is just to populate the GEOM, I will add a version which uses static data but this is the Ordnance Survey data which is not sharable. I've added a few screenshots as a document

The Error shows that the table is loaded correctly

I noticed one unusual thing is that the Postcode text Field is the primary key

CRS and extent shown below from the information tab; the entry in geometry_columns table is correct (it listed the table); STIsValid() is 1 for all rows (remember this displays perfectly in version 3.2:

Static data insert still fails in the same way. Server version is MSSQL 2017

```
Insert INTO [dbo].[Temp]
( Postcode,[Date Introduced],[Date Withdrawn],[CodePoint UPP],[geom])
VALUES ('CV2 1QL','1980-01-01',NULL,00004000000000301149,
