| Steps to reproduce: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Start QGIS</li><li>2. Plugins -&gt; Spit -&gt; Import Shapefiles to [[PostgreSQL]]</li><li>3. Click "Add"</li><li>4. Double-click a shapefile (I'm trying to use SRTM shapefiles, e.g. "w005n57e.shp", downloaded from "ftp://e0srp01u.ecs.nasa.gov/srtm/version2/SRTM3/Eurasia")</li></ol> What happens: A dialog box with a progress bar appears very briefly. Then QGIS closes, and writes the following on the console: Fatal: ASSERT failure in QList&lt;T&gt;::operator[]: "index out of range", file /usr/share/qt4/include/QtCore/qlist.h, line 378 Aborted (core dumped) Extra information: OS: Ubuntu 7.04 Hardware: Pentium M 1.8, 1GB RAM QGIS Version: 0.8.0 (Ubuntu packages from download.qgis.org, to get them to install I had to install libgdal1-1.3.1-6 from Ubuntu 6.10.) libqt4 version: 4.2.3-0ubuntu3 postgresql-8.1 version: 8.1.8-1ubuntu3 postgresql-8.1-postgis version: 1.1.6-2 |              |                                     |

History

#1 - 2007-04-28 08:10 AM - eskea -

Sorry! I made a mistake. The URL to the shapefiles I'm trying to use is actually <ftp://e0srp01u.ecs.nasa.gov/srtm/version2/SWBD/>

That is, the SRTM Water Body Dataset.
