Description
The marching ants look that photoshop and a lot of other graphics programs use is quite handy to see what is selected. I think something like this would be good to have on the composer items. Marching ants for those that don't know http://www.codeproject.com/KB/WPF/wpfmarchingants/MarchingAntsSelection.jpg

I'm planning on rewriting the item selection code for 2.1.0 - it's got some shortcomings at the moment, like handles hiding behind objects, and transparency & blend modes being applied to handles. I'll take a look at this then!
